

LOUISVILLE EARLY STAGE SUPPORT GROUP

The Alzheimer's Association offers services for persons diagnosed with early stage memory loss and their care partners.

These programs provide:

- A safe environment to share experiences and ask questions
- Friendship and an opportunity to talk with others about the experience of memory loss
- Support & Information
- Opportunity to engage in socially and culturally enriching activities with others who are experiencing memory loss.

The Early Stage Support Group provides an opportunity to discuss issues and changes related to memory loss and a gathering to share experiences and feelings for both those in early stages and their care partners.
